"America's Tall Ship" USCG Barque Eagle

Program January 28, 2010

By: Todd Gipstein

Melissa Babcock presented a program on Zip06 is the community Web site for The Day newspaper and the Times weeklies covering southeastern Connecticut, and the Shore Publishing weeklies covering the central Connecticut shoreline. We've combined news and information from all of our publications into one dynamic Web site. Each town now has its own page.

Whatever you're interested in, you can find hyper-local staff-written news about you and your community right here.

Not only will you find great content by our award-winning staff, but Zip06 is also the place for your voice. You can write blogs, submit news, share your photos and post to our calendar. You'll find content from your neighbors and community that give you the full picture of what's going on in your community.

Academically, Jerry is ranked in the top of his class. He exemplifies the model student, with a positive outlook and attitude, who is dedicated and strives to do the very best in every facet of life. He is an active member of the New London High School Band, Rotary Interact Club and National Honor Society, and with an inclination for supporting others, has participated in Relay for Life as well as many other extracurricular activities geared towards lending a helping hand.

OPEN CLASSIFICATION

A new classification has been approved: Insurance-Employee Benefits Anyone wanting to propose someone for membership in this classification should contact President Anna within the next week.

Flag Exchange

Pete Connair was pleased to present a flag from the Rotary Club of Paris. Not a bad place to do a make-up! President Anna accepted on behalf of the club but would like to be included next time Pete heads to France.

WHERE DOES THE NAME ZIP06 COME FROM?

We are a town-oriented local site and the name Zip06 simply refers to zip codes starting with 06, which describes all Connecticut towns.

While we currently don't cover the whole state, we are leaving the option open to expand our coverage area.

WHY SHOULD I JOIN?

We invite you to join the discussion by making a free member account with us. You can post comments on our stories and submit news, blogs, events and photos directly to the newsroom. Your posts will appear online instantly and will be considered for print publication in your weekly community paper or The Day. We've upgraded our community calendar by incorporating Zvents.com, which offers more features and a wider reach so your listing gets the most impact.

REPRESENTING A GROUP OR ORGANIZATION

If you represent an organization and wish to submit press releases and events to Zip06, we advise you to create an account solely for submitting content for that organization. If you wish to contribute as both a representative and comment on articles as a member of the public, we recommend you create two accounts - one for professional use with your organization and one for private use with a screen name that represents you as a reader.
